

Rules and regulations: visiting hours for private visitors

The public prosecutor's department, the authorities of the court of justice and the management of the prison of Basel-City, allow detainees, visits from relatives and friends under the subsequent house rules.

Custody awaiting trial

You have to inform the detained person in writing that you would like to visit him.

The detained person will send you a request form which you complete with the necessary information (name, first name, address) and documents (copy of the personal identity card or passport) and send it to the proceeding line.

For all visits at the detention while awaiting trial a valid visit permission from the proceeding line must be available. The visit permission will be sent by the responsible proceeding line

IMPORTANT: All visits are supervised and conducted behind glass panels, and all conversations must be held in the German language. Visits requiring an interpreter will be organized by the concerned authority. It is not permitted to discuss over the current legal procedure.

Penalty execution, execution awaiting trial, security measures

You inform the detainee in writing that you wish to visit him/her.

The detainee will provide you with a form for you to sign. Please double check your personal details, address, birth date and submit the form with your signature, for a final verification to the detention center of Basel-Stadt, Innere Margarethenstrasse 18, 4051 Basel.

Minors

Visitor permits are issued by the respective concerning authority.

During these visits visitors and detainees are separated by a glass panel

Detention awaiting deportation:

For visits to detainees in deportation custody, no visitor permit is required.

Visitors Quotas

Each detainee in custody has the right to a visitor quota of a ½ hour a week, and as from the 2nd month of detention, 1 hour per week, according to the instructions issued by the public and youth prosecutor.

Each detainee in custody; penalty execution, execution awaiting trial, or for security measures, has a weekly quota of 1 hour. The detainee may receive a maximum of two persons per visit. (Children and young people up to age 18 are not counted).

For the detainees in detention awaiting deportation no visitors time limit is set, however the visits must take place within the context and house rules and regulations. These detainees are allowed a maximum of two visitors at the same time. (Children and young people up to age 18 are not counted).
